

Scope of Practice Decision Tree*

*Adopted by permission of the National Council of State Boards of Nursing

1. Describe the act to be performed.
Review the scope of practice for your licensure level:

RN

Assessment, nursing diagnosis, setting goals, planning care strategies, implementing care, delegating care to qualified others, supervising, evaluating, teaching, managing care, maintaining client safety, collaborating with other health care members.

LPN

Contributing to assessment, participating in development of plan of care, implementing aspects of care as directed, maintaining client safety, participating in evaluating care, and delegating care to qualified others.

ARNP

Assessing clients, synthesizing and analyzing data, understanding and applying nursing principals at an advanced level; providing expert teaching and guidance; working effectively with clients, families and other members of the health care team; managing clients' physical and psycho-social health-illness status; utilizing research skills; analyzing multiple sources of data, identifying alternative possibilities as to the nature of a health care problem, and selecting appropriate treatment; making independent decisions in solving complex client care problems; performing acts of diagnosing, prescribing, administering and dispensing therapeutic measures; and recognizing limits of knowledge and experience, planning for situations beyond expertise, consulting with or referring to other health care providers as appropriate.

Interpretive Statements

Thank you for contacting the Washington State Nursing Care Quality Assurance Commission (NCQAC) regarding nursing practice. The Nursing Commission is the agency responsible for licensure of registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, and advanced registered nurse practitioners for Washington State.

NCQAC members as well as the Department of Health staff members who carry out the work of the NCQAC are not able to answer specific clinical scope of practice questions either on the telephone, via e-mail, or in writing. However, several resources have been developed and approved by the NCQAC to assist individual nurses to analyze and review their own questions. Staff at the NCQAC office are available to listen to your questions so that appropriate materials can be supplied as you decide how best to proceed with your particular clinical situation.

Resources currently available are:

- Scope of Practice Decision Making Tree
- The Law Relating to Nursing (often referred to as the “Nurse Practice Act”)
- Interpretive Statements issued by the NCQAC which may be applicable to your issue

Please note that NCQAC is a regulatory agency of the State of Washington. A large variety of professional nursing associations and health care organizations are active in this State and may be able to advise you about current practice. Additionally, many nurses have been assisted with practice questions after researching current nursing literature, by reviewing employee standard procedure manuals, and by consulting with their own organization's staff education offices.

If you feel you still need a response to your question, please submit an Item Review Form found on our website to the NCQAC. Once the office has received your written request, the practice committee of the NCQAC will evaluate the request to determine whether or not the NCQAC will consider issuing a written interpretive statement.
